

PRODUCT	BRADERM LIOKER SHAMPOO
PRIMARY PACKAGING	BOTTLE 200 ml
CATEGORY	COSMETIC
ACTIVE INGREDIENTS	PANTHENOL 0,5% Represents the reduced alcoholic form of pantothenic acid (vitamin B5). In the cosmetic field, the use of panthenol is preferred over that of pantothenic acid, due to the greater stability of the alcoholic form. By virtue of its strong moisturizing, emollient and soothing action, it is an ingredient of choice in many dermo-cosmetic products intended for dry or irritated skin. SILK PROTEINS 0,5 % These proteins are able to form a thin and invisible film on the skin with a moisturizing and protective effect. This gives an effect of softness and silkiness to the touch. Silk proteins are also moisturizing because they contain sericin, which is able to bind to water molecules. The use of silk proteins is therefore indicated in case of dry and / or fragile skin. The main protein sericin, on the other hand, has a marked velvety and moisturizing character and gives the skin a particular softness and silky delicacy to the touch, making its texture finer, smoother, luminous and uniform. Thanks to the low molecular weight, the silk proteins are able to penetrate into the deep dermal layers, where their strong hygroscopic properties are able to better prevent dehydration, keeping the skin relaxed and hydrated for longer. DELICATE SURFACTANTS
INDICATIONS	Promotes the normal restoration of the physiological balance of the hair and scalp. Strengthens and protects the hair structure, giving it shine, softness and elasticity. Its particular delicacy makes it extremely suitable for those who need to wash their hair frequently or alternatively with medicated shampoos. It can also be used in children.